

ERNEST CHATTIN KILLED

Long Crushed Off by Train at Forest and Dismal from the Shock.

Last Sunday Ernest Chatten was at the depot at Forest, the station on the railway opposite Dunmore. The work train was in the yard shifting cars. The train chuffed by him and he attempted to board the caboose while the train was in motion. He grasped it with both hands, but one hand was wrenched loose and he hung under the wheels. One set of trucks passed over his left thigh crushing and mangleing it in a horrible manner.

He was brought to Marlinton where Dr. Cunningham and Marshall gave him medical attention, but it was impossible to rally him from the shock. The accident occurred at 4:30 p. m. and at 9:10 he died in Dr. Cunningham's office.

The unfortunate boy was employed on the carpenter force on the railway, and was at work under Mr. Eals on the depot building at Forest. His home was in Talbot, Summers County. He was about 18 years of age. The remains were taken to Talbot.

He was very well known in Marlinton, having been working with the carpenter force here until a few days ago.

After the accident occurred he was conscious, but declared that he was going to die. He became weaker and weaker until he died.

Durbin continues to improve. A correspondent writes us: "There was preaching at Durbin yesterday for the first time in the history of that town."

There was a death in the family of Dick Galtford on Elk last week from smallpox. A little boy, who was just recovering from smallpox, took the disease which proved fatal.

The new manse at Greenbank is under roof. It is located near to the site of the old manse at Cooper House. James Moorman will build on the adjoining lot. The manse, one acre, was donated by Dr. Moorman.

We sincerely hope it may be a true report that Baron Robert Von Max, one of Mosby's men will leave his two millions to the living corner. It is estimated that if divided now each one will get four or five thousand dollars. Major King is one of Mosby's men.

Sometimes a single sign was displayed on the public road in the Greenbank District. A whiskey sign of an Illinois State was displayed on the roadside and on top of it an empty bottle pointing to a path in the brush, attracting off from the main road. As an advertisement it was a success.

E. O. Moore, of Greenbank, was in town recently. He has been the victim of a curious coincidence. He has been in town of Durbin three times. The first time when Hans Collins was shot and killed about 1894. The second time Jeff Hancock was shot and killed. The first time when Mr. Wright was shot and killed. He saw the dead bodies each time and he is not going to visit Durbin any more.

The Life of "Stonewall" Jackson, written by the late Dr. Dyer, one of the most eminent writers of the century, will always be regarded as an authority for truthful, accurate facts. A few copies of this book are for sale by the publisher, Messrs. H. W. Moore, Knoxville, Tenn. A copy will be sent to one who will send him a few lines.

It is stated on good authority that a well graded road could be built between Dunmore and Marlinton. It is in Highland County, which would place Marlinton within 10 miles of Forest Point on the Greenbrier Division of the G. & M. Railway. It is at the present time 45 miles from Marlinton. We think this matter should be investigated.

Corporation Sued

The corporation of the town of Marlinton has been sued by W. Wagner, of Haverhill, Md. Wagner had a mare hurt by catching her foot in a railroad crossing in crossing in the town. The suit is brought before D. R. McKelvey, a justice of the Haverhill district. Wagner seeks $100 damages in damages.

It goes without saying that Mayor King will defend the suit. He claims they have the wrong pig with the car and that if there is any claim it should be against the railroad.

Brooks-McLaughlin

On Thursday evening at 4:30 o'clock, near Inframonte Cottage, west Marlinton, a then public house, a picturesque couple, marriage was celebrated when James M. Brooks and Miss Mary Alice McLaughlin were united in holy matrimony. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Wm T. Price. The bride is the eldest daughter of Hugh McLaughlin near Dunmore and is a popular teacher of public schools of much experience. The groom is a lumberman and is from Greenup county, Kentucky.

Miss Anna V. Price and N. R. Price were the only witnesses of the ceremony.

LOUISE

Good morning, Mr. Editor, not saying anything in your valuable paper from this corner I will try to give you a little news.

George Taylor has built a fine house on the premises.

J. L. Hudson and C. M. Gum are doing a land office business.

Walter Arbogast was in this community selling The Life of Queen Victoria, he says it goes like wild fire. He likes the business so well he doesn't think he will do anything else.

Rev. Kessler preached a good sermon for us Sunday evening at Wesley chapel.

Ward Hudson has returned from camp and is boarding with R. S. Fitzgerald.

The gambler is getting away from there in a wedding in the air.

J. E. Patterson has been confined to the house all winter with rheumatism we hope to see him out as soon as the weather gets warm.

L. Hudson is building a fine dwelling on a few lots.

See eyes and grip are raging here.

Henry Taylor and James Gaynor are in the fence building business.

Miss Anna Clark is teaching a very interesting school at Oak Grove.

Strickler Patterson is visiting his grandparents at Ash Grove.

Joe Kizza Taylor got a valentine and wonders who sent it.

The County Superintendent has just finished an inspection of our schools.

Old March got here with a snow. Henry Sheets was in this community with a petition which the tax payers are interested in. We hope he will succeed.

As I have not seen anything in your paper from this place I will give you a few items.

My Elizabeth Nottingham who has had a bad attack of grip is better at this time.

C. F. Tallman of Wanless, was the guest of his sister, Mrs. Arbogast, a few days ago.

Miss Bessie Sharp of Frost, is staying at Geo. Arbogast's.

Wanless Hudson and Charley Mann have rented W. W. Galtford's manse and will open the trees as soon as the weather is favorable.

This is one of the first cases in the upper end of the county. There have been as much as 1100 lbs of sugar made there in one season.

The public is cordially invited to come and examine our new stock, whether they buy or not, the same courteous attention will be given to all. We have procured from New York City one of the best designers and trimmers, who will take pleasure in giving our customers help to suit the individual. We will make order a specialty for customers.

COME; GIVE US A TRIAL.

To Pocahontas People:

We will make a systematic effort to publish a book from the History of Pocahontas County, as written by the Rev. Wm. T. Price, the bulk of which has been published in the Pocahontas Times. Our reasons for this are many, and there seems to be a general demand that the valuable historical matter collected by the writer, representing many years' work, should be preserved in enduring form. Last year this publication was proposed and a considerable number of persons forwarded their names voluntarily, but we should have at least three hundred more copies left before it would justify publishing so large a book as this will make. The book will be handsomely bound, and we think outside of the local interest in this work that it will be worth the price of $2.50, the price at which it will be published. Respectfully,

MAHLIN, W. Va. PRICE BROS.

THE MARLINTON

"Nullius in Verba Magistri."

MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, MARCH 14, 1901

$1.00 PER YEAR.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 14, 1901.
Thoughts longed and were locked.
One way was sure and solid.

A child's white face in the night,
A woman's face in the day,
A child's face in the night,
A woman's face in the day.

WATCHER.

After the sunset,
The stars were out,
The stars were out,
The stars were out.

Where to look for it. He knew
The stars were out,
The stars were out,
The stars were out.

It was a drearily lonesome place,
Nothing in sight on the land side but
The sea, and the sea was dark,
The sea was dark, the sea was dark.

We did not feel altogether sure,
But put on a brave front and just at sunset
Watched the stars, the stars,
The stars were out, the stars were out.

Twilight came on and then we discovered
That we could not get the
Marlinton out of the net, even to read
The stars were out, the stars were out.

Anecdotes and Reminiscences About Victoria.

Queen Victoria reigned longer than any other woman occupant of a throne.

She reigned for a greater number of years than any other European sovereign. If the regency in the reign of Louis XIV. is excepted.

Her reign lasted sixty-three years and seven months, exceeding forty years three months and twenty-eight days the reign of George III, which was the longest in England before she came to the throne.

She was Empress of India for twenty years.

WHERE QUEEN VICTORIA WAS BORN.

Twenty years, having received the title by proclamation on April 28, 1876.

She survived all the members of the House of Commons, who were peers of the realm at the time of her accession, except Earl Nelson, and all the peers who were then or had been members of the House of Commons.

She survived all the members of the original Privy Council and of the House of Commons. Mr. Gladstone having been one of the oldest former members of the latter.

She saw every episcopal see vacated and refilled at least twice during her reign.

She saw her judicial bench recruited twice at least from top to tail.

She saw five Archbishops of Canterbury.

She was a widow for forty years.

Queen received her Ministers and held her Cabinet Councils. Here, at the first Council she sat at the head of the Council board, the only woman present.

She was the oldest member of her Cabinet, and presided over every Government, Liberal or Conservative, during her reign of upward of sixty years. The real business of the Queen's day-hor household duties and her official work was dispatched quickly.

THE WEDDING, FEBRUARY 10TH, 1840.

The Queen had at least half a dozen thrones.

The Queen's furniture is valued mostly in English real estate, although she is credited with the ownership of many American railroad securities.

Her collection of plate—the finest in the world—was said to be worth several millions.

Her bankers are Coutts & Co., London.

The Imperial state crown was made in the year 1838, with jewels taken from old crowns and others furnished by command of Her Majesty, Queen Victoria. It consists of diamonds, pearls, rubies, sapphires and emeralds, and is lined with white silk.

The Queen was always fond of dogs, and the royal kennel near Windsor was among the finest in the world. She was never known to visit Windsor without going to see these favorite animals. Often her first visit after her arrival was to the kennel, and sometimes, her last before departing.

A Curious Superstition.

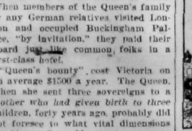

Ever since the assassination of King William, hundreds of Italians have been trying to win prizes in the national lottery by playing those numbers which correspond with his age. The numbers are 56, 10 and 73, the King having lived for 56 years, 10 hours and 73 minutes.

There are many who believe that the numbers 56, 10 and 73 were the Government would have to pay 50,000 times the amount of its stake.

The last drawing was held in Milan a few days ago, and, happily, enough, the winning numbers were 56, 10, 48 and 72. These came pretty close to the mark, and as a result, the numbers are more determined than ever to keep on playing their favorite combination until it brings them good fortune.—New York Herald.

THE BRITISH CROWN.

letter, accompanied by an engraving of himself and two plates of silver.

The "Queen's Jewels" exhibited in London are largely "paste". The Koh-i-Noor diamond is artificial, the rest being kept at the Queen's disposal.

There is a "Imperial Crown" as large as the British one, but the price is not so high.

It seems that it used to be the custom to have the crowns of queens made, and their spouses, not made of silver metal but those of the King and not of gold.

There is a "Queen's Crown" made for Mary of Modena, and used by Queen Victoria's mother, as a crown.

Like the crown of her state in a higher rank—those of waiting ladies, chamberlains, etc.—those of the Queen's daughters, and her own.
